He learned, that there was a started by the control of the Reading of the latest move of the Reading strikers in calling out the engineers, firemental Legislature to enact any laws on the subject.

Bailroad Matters at San Diego.

SAN DIEGO, February 15th.—According to arrangements now being perfected, a strikers in calling out the engineers, firemen and pumpmen from the Reading collieries. This is an attempt to destroy millions of dollars' worth of property, the result of years of hard labor under ground, by drowning the mines.

No greater disaster to colliery property I, the undersigned, claim all the land in a cer-tain section, township and range between cer-tain surveys and the river.

From this the jumping extended to the terior of the county on all tracts on which a defect of title or contest of the same exists. The jumpers made no attempt to improve the land, putting up only rough cabins. Those along the river are built by driving corner posts in the ground so the overflow cannot carry the cabins away. The jumpers seem to have combined and hired good attorneys, and will make a strong fight against the owners. The jumpers are on all the lands known as "lieu" land, which was listed to the State in lieu of school lands of which the State was deficient, and the jumpers claim both error in listing and that the State has more than the amount of school lands allowed it. An immense number of acres are involved, and other counties are catching the jumpers as well. The owners have so far made no determined effort to dislodge the jump-ers, but are arranging to do so soon. There will probably be concerted action, except on land where there is no doubt of there being defects in title, and there are many acres of this kind, some of which has changed hands a dozen times. There is much exitement among the land owners and real

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION,

AFTER THE SURPLUS. The Struggle for Appropriations for Pub-lie Buildings. [Copyright, 1888, by the California Associated Press. Washington, February 15th.-There was an animated and amusing debate in the House this afternoon while the urgency deficiency bill was under consideration. Mr. Voorhees, delegate from Washington Territory, in glowing language portrayed the necessity for an increase of the appropriation for the construction of a public building at Port Townsend from $80,000 to $250,000 and however. $250,000, and he moved an amendment that the appropriation be increased to the latter sum. His eloquence was unavailing, and by a large majority the House refused to increase the appropriation.

Hermann of Oregon vainly endeavored Voorhees' speech, but in the confusion the debate was cut off, by unanimous consent, after the amendment had been rejected.

years, and who have not received $100 The House went into Committee of the Whole on the urgent deficiency bill. It was discussed by Burnes of Missouri, who said the Committee on Appropriations was receipt of estimates for the completion of public buildings in various parts of the country. As in every case the estimate exceeded the limits fixed by law, the con nittee could not, under the rules, inc porate the items in the bill. The build ngs, however, must be completed, and he offered an amendment making appropriations for the completion of buildings (among other places) at Carson, Nev., $36, 000; Denver, Col., $60,000; Port Townsend W. T., $38,000. After a short discussion and an ineffectual attempt by Voorhees of Washington Territory, and Herman of Oregon, to increase the Port Townsend appropriation to $250,000, the amendment was adopted. A LAND WAR.

Jumpers-Trouble in Prospect. opyright, 1888, by the California Associated Press FRESNO, February 15th .- Land-jumpers are swarming all over the county, building cabins on every piece of land on which the Handsome Japanese Decorated Vases, 15 title is defective in any way. The Sutherland tract, the immense Laguna de Tache grant, the Heinlin estate and Warner tract are dotted with the cabins of jumpers, and hundreds of law suits will be the result. The jumping was started by one Chisum, who has a brother in the Land Office in acramento. He learned that there was a fragment of land bordering on King's river, where its meanderings cut the line of the Large, heavy, Retinned Stewpans, 25 cts. survey, leaving a tract of from one to twenty acres outside of the regular survey on these fragments several parties squatted, posting notices as follows: I, the undersigned, claim all the land in a cerain section, township and range between ce ain surveys and the river. From this the jumping extended to the interior of the county on all tracts on which a defect of title or contest of the same exists. The jumpers made no attempt to improve the land, putting up only rough abins. Those along the river are built by driving corner posts in the ground so the overflow cannot carry the cabins away. Boys' Black Hats, round tops, for ages 4 The jumpers seem to have combined and nired good attorneys, and will make a strong fight against the owners. The jump-ers are on all the lands known as "lieu" Large-sized bottles of French Sweet Oil, nd, which was listed to the State in lieu of school lands of which the State was de-icient, and the jumpers claim both error in listing and that the State has more than the amount of school lands allowed it. An mense number of acres are involved Misses' fancy (finished) all-wool Hose, and other counties are catching the jump-ers as well. The owners have so far made no determined effort to dislodge the jumpers, but are arranging to do so soon. There will probably be concerted action, except on 40x22 Satin Damask Towels, fancy borand where there is no doubt of there being efects in title, and there are many acres of this kind, some of which has changed hands a dozen times. There is much extement among the land owners and real estate men.

CANADIAN COMMERCIAL UNION.

At the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association a resolution was adopted to the effect that the Association was entirely opposed to a commercial union between Canada and the United States, because such union would inevitably result in the sundering of the political ties uniting Canada to the mother country, the eternal truths underlying it. As the would prejudice the political status of Canada, and would injure Canadian manufacturers. Remarking upon this fact the Montreal Witness says:

Montreal Witness says:

The two first clauses of this are pure buncombe. There is something decidedly comical, to say the least of it, in the idea that the industrial interest that brought about the establishment of the customs tariff that destroyed the commercial bonds uniting Canada with Great Britain, and that is mainly responsible for the fact that the debt and Federal taxation of Canada are now much greater than those of the United States in ratio to population, should pose as the champions of British connection and of Canada's political status.

The Witness concludes that the independent manufacturers are not afraid of free trade. However, that does not cut a great figure in the proposition for com mercial union. As against the manifesto of the Manufacturers' Association, we have the expression of the Ontario Lumberunion, because, it says, "it would greatly benefit the farmer, the fisherman and the lumberman, the natural producers of valuable and exchangeable value in Canada." It appears to us, as we have previously said, that the two countries will naturally profit by it; neither will gain any advantage over the other in the long run. Canada is, as the Witness well says, commercially independent of the mother country, but her loyalty to Great Britain is not for that reason shaken. She discriminates now against English importation, but is none the less true to England politically So far as that is concerned then, England has nothing to fear from commercial union. and we do not believe, despite the very emphatic declaration of Mr. Chamberlain, that she would interpose any lasting ob-The question then is simply one of local development; the two countries have so much in common commercially that a transverse customs barrier is a hindrane to the operation of natural laws relating to this common interest. There is no reason that has yet been advanced, that impresses us forcibly, why commercial reciprocity between the two shores of the great lakes would be any more unnatural commercially, than non-restraint It should not take two years to get so of trade between the States of the Union-It is simply a proposition to unite Canada and the United States commercially while leaving them politically independent of each other; to foster the development of a region that knows only arbitrary political lines of division; to give to American traders the right to avail of natural advantages north of the lakes, and Dominion deeply interested as the Dominion, while the advance of the United States is reflected in Canadian prosperity. The Canadian area is forty times greater than that of England and Scotland and Wales; its territory greater by 464,000 square miles than that of the United States; it is sixteen times as large as the German Empire; it has a natural wealth in lumber, minerals and soil that rivals our own; it is by no means a narrow zone upon the border of a frozen wilderness that many think it to be ; on the contrary, as Lord Selkirk has shown, the plains of the Saskatchewan river, producing every variety of earth growth of the temperate zone, are capable of supporting a population of 30,000,000. Canada is the richest country in the world in iron, and its ores are especially low in phosphorus. So, too, the Dominion is enormously wealthy in copper and nickel and many other minerals; her timber supply is exhaustless, and her fisheries are the most important on the globe. Commercial union with such a country by the United States means simply the rethe United States means simply the re- voters and who are therefore supposed to moval of artificial obstacles to the flow of trade between English-speaking people of take so little interest in the performance of the performance of the same continent and whose States are their duty towards society and hold justice their duty towards society and hold justice New Jerusalem of the world. Los Angeles county the following letter taken from the Eldora (Iowa) Herald is appended:

PASADENA, January 7, 1888.

DEAR WIFE: I will say a few words as regards the climate of the so-called Golden State—the land of fruit and flowers—and especially of the climate, which has been claimed to be the best in the world. Now let me give, or state what has taken place since my arrival or of the climate, which has been claimed to be the best in the world. Now let me give, or state, what has taken place since my arrival on the 2d of this month. On Tuesday, the 3d, it rained all day, mixed with snow and hail, washing the streets into gutters, and causing a washout on the railroad, delaying travel. On Wednesday, the 4th, it rained in the forenoon; in the afternoon it broke away, seemingly, so that S. S. Mulford and myself started out for a little walk, but ere we had been gore half an hour a heavy rain, accompanied with hail and snow, causing us to seek shelter in an unoccupied barn for an hour or more, when slacking some we started home. The 5th, another day of rain, mixed with snow and hail. The 6th, as usual, hall, snow and rain, but in less quantities. Citizens say this has been the coldest and most disagreeable weather that they have ever seen in this place. But lo-and-behold, the seventh day of the week and month it was frozen hard enough to bear up a man. The hydrants were frozen, and it is reported that a couple of boys were frozen to death; the wind blew and whistled around the corners of the house, reminding me of the nights in lowa last November; at 10 a. M. sun shining rrightly. How is this for the garden spot of the world?

Now, let me give the prices of some of the things which go to make life happy and joyous in the land of speculation: Soft coal, $25 per ton: wood, $14 to $18 per cord: lumber, prices too high to quote; rents, for such buildings as we have in Providence, from $10 to $12 per month; board, from $1 to $5 per day; corn, 75 cents per bushel; potatoes, $1 20; butter, 50 cents, eggs, 40 cents per qozen; beef, at the market, 12 to 18 cents per pound. It has been so stormy and disagreeable I have not been out much. I have now the worst cold I have had in two years or more. People who generally settled here give us, in the States east of here, the bright side of the picture. On account of high water and washouts I have not been able to go to Whittier, as I wanted to, but hope

GRATEFUL-COMFORTING. BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the naturaliaws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavored beverage which may save us many heavy-doctors bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

and Ladies of Honor, gave a valentine social literary entertainment and dance after the close of their lodge last evening. It had been given out the week before that there would be a valentine box in the Hall last night and every one went prepared to "make their friends happy." At 9 P. M., T. H. Berkey was appointed Postmaster with two assistants to deliver the valentines, and they took charge of the box which contained at least 200 missives. There were "little ones for a bit," and there were great big ones that didn't cost so much; there were some most ridiculously comic and not a few quite sentimental. It was noticed that of the latter the gentlemen received the largest number, the ladies no doubt availing themselves of all the rights and privileges accorded them by the Leap Year.

A newspaper man who was present fell in for a large number of comics. In fact, many of them were quite personal "Chestnut Bells,"—"Rats!" "Old Shears," "Give Us a Rest." "Libeler," "The Pen is Mightier than the Sword," embellished with a pig pen and a porker with a quill behind his ear, and the following verse at the bottom:

Old grunter, with shears and paste
And paragraphs old as time,
Pity your writings don't go to waste;
You poet of doggerel rhyme,
The devil himself won't take you in,
For fear you'd even slander him.

After the disposition of the valentines a programme of recitations and vocal and instrumental music followed. At 10 o'clock the refreshment committee, con Misses Akin, Griffin, Kirr and Bartlett served refreshments in the shape of coffee, sandwiches, cakes, confections and ice cream. The evening's entertainment closed with a social hop. T. H. Berkey, floor director, Messrs. Coons, Mitchell and Erlewine, floor managers.

PUT THE BLAME WHERE IT BELONGS .-A gentleman came into this office last even ing and complained that the local papers were doing the town an injury by exposing so much vice. Before leaving the office, however, he was convinced that the press was right, and that the Sacramento officials were not trying to do their duty. The dis-reputable dives would be closed, the China tan and lottery games would be shut up, faro banks would cease to run, and th tough class of parasites who live off the earnings of fallen women, or by robbing drunken men, would leave town within twenty-four hours if the Police Commis sioners would say the word. The people themselves are in error for electing such men to office, and none of the blame should be attached to the newspapers that are simply doing their duty.

A CLUB VS. A PISTOL.—Yesterday John Camp was tried before Justice of the Peace Devine without a jury, for drawing and exhibiting a deadly weapon in a threatening manner not in self defense. The evidence produced showed that Camp keep a saloon on land owned by Levi Painter, about a transfer table at the railroad shops, near mile below Courtland. When Mr. Painter the paint shop; and the open-air meetings desired Camp to vacate the premises the latter refused. To intimidate him into going, Painter seized a club and advanced on Camp in a threatening manner. Camp believing that Painter intended to do him great bodily harm with the club, drew his revolver, flourished it in the air cow-boy style, and informed Painter "to get" or h would "blow him full of air holes." On this showing Justice Davis discharged the defendant from custody.

Mr. Langly said: "I am here for the people of the East, the people of my State, and more particularly, the people in the county where I live, to see if I can find a seem to be way and a place where they can better themselves. They are living in a hard country, where the price of labor is low, where a woman has to work hard to earn they probably received $1 cash and have to trade out the balance for food and clothing hese people, who are sober, honest and hard working, to California, so that be benefited, as well as those who emi-grate. And I think when the people here know and understand what kind of labor intend bringing, that it is good help,

CALIFORNIA IS HEAVEN, month, but where I came from, Pitt county, North Carolina, the farm hands get only $9 and are compelled to trade nearly all of it out in flour at five cents per pound, pork at twenty-five cents per pound and other food in like proportion. Is it any wonder then that they cannot save money, and have a that they cannot save money, and have a discharged from custody. in debt and unable without assistance to get out of the country? What is earned there a month is a week's wages in California.' Mr. G. W. Booth being called upon, indorsed the remarks of Mr. Langly, and thought that immigration would benefit the colored people in the East, morally, socially, politically and financially. He hoped to see the idea carried out to full cially as far as he was able.

BENEFITS OF EMIGRATION. Rev. Mr. Summers was the next speaker ized and successfully carried out the exodus at San Jose.
of colored people from the South to Nebraska in 1876. At that time 41,000 colored ole went into Kansas and Nel settled down earnestly to make an honest denied at the South. In the South they had no show in politics or anything else. They were not educated morally, and as a consequence in some instances they be brutal. The white people of the South had no sympathy for the colored people, and would do nothing for them. The emancipation proclamation made us all free and left us on our own resources. Before that time the owners took care of their human property, in order that it might be of value to them; when we were

The Duke pursues the the ocean every month. Another thing that will be of benefit to the colored people is, that they will have better facilities for educating their children, for in the South, where our people are in a majority, there are no schools, and where the whites are largely in the majority, schools exist, and this is almost without exception. I have made no exaggeration in what I have said

I speak from personal knowledge."
Mr. Dorsey, Mr. Dunlap and others made brief practical remarks upon the subject.

A Committee of Arrangements to formulate plans for the proposed emigration was appointed. Another mass meeting will be held next Wednesday evening, to which
